I recently transitioned into the tech industry, demonstrating my ability to quickly learn and excel in new arenas. My journey in software development began with an intensive program at Code Your Future Glasgow, where I graduated in October 2023. This hands-on experience, coupled with my dedication to self-learning, equipped me with a robust skill set in software development.

Beyond my technical capabilities, I bring a wealth of soft skills to the table. My past experience as an Office Assistant honed my organizational, communication, and teamwork skills. Additionally, my background in psychology and fluency in multiple languages enhances my ability to understand, interact, and connect with diverse groups.

My dedication to excellence permeates all areas of my life.
